PUSH CAMPAIGN

Educate for Service and Not Selfishness

The great economic upheaval that is shaking the foundation of American industry should have a very definite reaction upon the education of our people. There are a number of irreconcilable and dangerous forces that are working counter to each other and bringing disaster to the mass of the American people.

In the first place there is the trained and shrewd profiteer or man higher up who has turned his knowledge and education into channels of greed and fraud. The key word in his training was selfishness and his aim was to get all he could in life by fair or foul means. His learning and ability have prepared him to exploit his neighbor and manipulate the resources of the country for personal gain. He tries to make his employees and the public, he is supposed to serve, believe he is giving them one hundred per cent value for their money and time. Such selfish education is a menace to an unsuspecting and untrained public.

On the other hand there is the untrained and, often, illiterate man at the bottom. He believes he is not getting a "square deal" and he resorts to violence as a means of righting his wrongs. He forces strikes and strikes again with the hope of getting satisfaction. Each time he strikes another little boost is given to the price of commodities so that his net earnings are no more than they were before and oftentimes less. The battle between these two great forces continues and all the rest of humanity suffers. In this case the want of proper education proves a menace to society.

There is a sound basis upon which all society should stand. That basis is a brotherhood fostered by honest,

In the first place, in a democracy like ours, everybody should be educated. Everybody should have the opportunity of knowing the principles upon which fair business and clean society are built. They should know what is just and equitable in all things, and how to secure justice in an honorable way.

The only way to attempt the solution of the complex problems of our country is by the proper kind of universal education, -education that reaches the hearts and consciences of men, as well as the head. Education in America has a tendency to go too far in the direction of selfish proficiency, preparing men to do things not only in an expert way but to use their acquired knowlege for their own advancement rather than for the good of the com-

There are a few institutions in the country which are trying to combine efficiency with high moral aims-Berea College is such an institution. Berea maintains that any school has failed to perform its greatest mission if it teaches young people to be expert without implanting in them the spirit of service.

The education that makes people more honest and considerate of the welfare of others is the kind to get. Such education comes from contact with great teachers in a great institution where the fear of God and love of humanity take pre-eminence over everything else.

Berea College is endeavoring to be such an institution with just such teachers.

And Berea puts the cost of education within reach of all. There has been no increase in the "incidental fee," which is the same as twenty years ago. The instruction is a free gift. All teachers' salaries are paid from the funds of the school without calling on the students for one cent. And every effort is being made to keep down the cost of living. We dress plainly in Berea. We have a cooperative store where books and other things which students need are sold at cost.

The great expense in education is board—though we should remember that we have to eat if we stay at home! For twenty-five years Berea never raised the price of board. It has its farm, garden, dairy, bakery, cold storage, etc., all used to reduce the price of board. But it has to buy its sugar, flour, cow feed, etc. So we are raising board 65 cents a week. In the Fall young men used to pay $1.60, and a young woman $1.35. Now the prices willbe $2.25 and $2.00, and in the Winter 25 cents a week more.

But remember that education is cheap at any price. And remember you must get education while you

World News

The death of Andrew Carnegie, during the week, removes from the world a man who has been international in his interests. He gave the money to construct the great Peace Palace at the Hague and was greatly interested in all movements to do away with war. His last days were saddened by the event of the recent war. He was also concerned with the effort to create friendly relations between the United States and the South American countries.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Thomas R. Barnes, wealthy New Yorker, on a walking trip through New England, is caught in a storm miles from his destination. At a crossroads point he meets a girl in the same plight. While they discuss the situation an automobile, sent to meet the girl, arrives and Barnes is given a lift to Hart's tavern, while the girl is taken on to her destination, which she tells Barnes is a place called Green Fancy.

CHAPTER II—At the tavern Barnes falls in with a stranded troupe of "barn-storming" actors, headed by Lyndon Rushcroft, and becomes interested in CHAPTER III—As the storm grows, Barnes finds h uself worrying over the safety of the girl, traveling over the mountain roads at what he considers dangerous speed. He learns that Green Fancy is something of a house of mystery. Two mounted men leave the tavern in a manner which arouses Barnes' curiosity.

CHAPTER IV—He meets "Miss Thackeray," leading lady of the stranded theat-fical troupe, who is acting as chambermaid. That night he is aroused by the bringing of a dying man to the tavern, one of the two who had ridden away a short time before. They tell of finding the dead body of the other man. Both had been shot.

CHAPTER V-The wounded man, registered at the tavern as Andrew Paul, dies, and Barnes is informed he must not leave until after the inquest. O'Dowd and De Soto, guests at Green Fancy, visit the tavern, apparently much mystified over the affair.

CHAPTER VI-Barnes advances Rush-roft money sufficient to release the comcroft money sufficient to release the com-pany from its embarrassing position, thereby becoming its official backer. He visits Green Fancy, and in the grounds meets his acquaintance of the night be-fore, finding her a girl of surprising CHAPTER: VII—She seems not to be desirous of recognizing him, and turns away. O'Dowd appears and in apparently friendly fashion escorts barnes (who feels he is unwelcome) from the grounds.

CHAPTER VIII-Miss Thackeray warns Barnes that a man stopping at the tay-ern, ostensibly a book agent, had searched his baggage in his absence. O'Dowd comes to the tayern and with Barnes and others goes over the scene of the previous night's shooting. Barnes is invited to dinner at Green Fancy.

CHAPTER IX—His acquaintance of the storm is introduced as Miss Cameron. The makeup of the house party, particularly a man introduced to him as "Loeb," and the number of menservants about the place, somewhat astonishes Barnes.

He was to depart at ten. The hour drew near and he had had no opportunity for detached conversation with Miss Cameron. He had listened to her bright retorts to O'Dowd's sallies, and marveled at the ease and composure with which she met the witty Irishman on even terms

Not until the very close of the evening, and when he had resigned himself to hopelessness, did the opportunity come for him to speak with her alone. She caught his eye, and, to his amazement, made a slight movement of her head, unobserved by the others but curiously imperative to him. There was no mistaking the meaning of the direct, intense look that she gave him. She was appealing to him as a friend-as one on whom she could depend!

The spirit of chivalry took possession of him. His blood leaped to the call. She needed him and he would not fail her. And it was with difficulty that he contrived to hide the exaltation that might have ruined ev erything!

"Come and Sit Beside Me, Mr. Barnes," She Called Out Gayly.

While he was trying to invent a pretext for drawing her apart from the others she calmly ordered Van Dyke to relinquish his place on the couch beside her to Barnes.

"Come and sit beside me, Mr. Barnes," she called out gayly. "I will not bite you or scratch you or harm you in any way. Ask Mr. O'Dowd, and he will tell you that I am quite

"If you are to be long in the neighborhood, Mr. Barnes," said his hostess, "you must let us have you again." "My stay is short, I fear. You have only to reveal the faintest sign that I may come, however, and I'll hop into my seven-league boots before you can utter Jack Robinson's Christian name. Good night, Mrs. Van Dyke. I have you all to thank for a most delightful

The car was waiting at the back of the house. O'Dowd walked out with Barnes, their arms linked-as on a for mer occasion, Barnes recalled.

"I'll ride out to the gate with you," said the Irishman. "It's a winding devious route the road takes throug the trees."

They came in time, after many "hab pins" and right angles, to the gat opening upon the highway. Peter go lown from the sent to release the proocked chain and throw open the gate O'Dowd leaned closer to Barnes and wered his voice,

"See here, Barnes, I'm no fool, an or that reason I've got sense enough o know that you're not either. on't know what's in your mind, no: that you're trying to get into it if is sn't already there. But I'll say this to ou, man to man: Don't let your magination get the better of your ommon sense. That's all. Take the ip from me.'

"I am not imagining anything, "Dowd," said Barnes quietly, "What o you mean?"

"I mean just what I say. I'm giving on the tip for selfish reasons. If you rake a bally fool of yourself, I'll have o see you through the worst of itend it's a job I don't relish. Ponder but, will ve, on the way home?"

Barnes did ponder it on the way ome. There was but one construcion to put upon the remark: it was D'Dowd's way of letting him know hat he could be depended upon for support if the worst came to pass.

O'Dowd evidently had not been deeived by the acting that masked the conversation on the couch. He knew hat Miss Cameron had appealed to Barnes, and that the latter had promsed to do everything in his power to help her.

Suspecting that this was the situation, and doubtless sacrificing his own private interests, he had uttered the vague but timely warning to Barnes. The significance of this warning grew friends. I have no one to turn to in inder reflection. Barnes was not slow a appreciate the position in which O'Dowd voluntarily placed himself. A vord or a sign from him would be suficient to bring disaster upon the Irishman who had risked his own safety in few irretrievable words. The more e thought of it, the more fully coninced was he that there was nothing o fear from O'Dowd.

Peter drove- slowly, carefully over he road down the mountain. Respondng to a sudden impulse, Barnes lowered one of the side seats in the tonneau and moved closer to the driver. "How long have you been driving

"What has Mr. Loeb against you, if may : sk?"

"Well, it's like this. I ain't in the abit o' bein' ordered aroun' as if I as lest nobedy at all, so when he tarts in to cuss me about somethin' week or so ago, I ups and tells him I'll smash his head if he don't take-it back, *He takes it back all right, but the first thing I know I get a calldown from Mrs. Collier. Course I took it like a lamb. Then they gits a feller up here to wash the car. My rosh, mister, the durned ole rattle-trap demands had been met. ain't wuth a bucket o' water all told. So I sends word in to Mr. Curtis that if she has to be washed, I'll wash her. Then's when I hears about the new car. Next day Mrs. Collier sends fer me an' I go in. She says she guesses she'll try the new washer on the new machine when it comes, an' if I keer to stay on as washer in his place she'll be glad to have me. I says I'd like to have a word with Mr. Curtis, if she don't mind, an' she says Mr. Curtis ain't able to see no one. So I guess

PHI DELTA ENTERTAINS

Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 some forty or more young people of the Summer School enjoyed a very pleasant time together in Phi Delta Hall. The Phi Delta boys, of whom there is a goodly number in Summer School, believe that there should be occasional times when the hard-worked students can, for a short period, forget the daily tessons and give themselves over to a little harmless fun and frolic, and had planned accordingly.

There were games and friendly contests, followed by a few short, humorous speeches.

There was present "The Quartetter" which displayed its vocal abilities to the satisfaction of all. A number of vocal solos well suited to the occasion were very pleasantly rendered.

The evening's enjoyment was climaxed by the serving of ice cream and cakes, which sent every one away wearing a broad smile and wishing that there could be many more occasions like this.

SMALL CHILDREN AND AUTOMOBILES

Scarcely a day passes when readers of the daily papers do not see an account of some automobile tragedy. Somebody is killed or maimed for life, and somebody is to blame for it. It is not always easy to fix the responsibility, but it is evident that in the majority of cases the mishap is due to careless driving. Good drivers have acciof accidents occur when there is some reckless or irresponsible driver at the wheel.

Thus far Berea has been rather fortunate in having few accidents. Most machines have come recently, and the people who drive them have not yet acquired the careless habits that often come with long familiarity with the wheel.

But one phase of automobiling in Berea deserves attention. Machines are frequently driven about the streets by mere children. Any day those who walk about may see one or more machines being piloted by a boy or girl of tender years. Some times the child is accompanied by other passengers, sometimes it is alone. Unless the most careful kind of instructions are given to these children - chauffeurs - and their number is increasing with the increasing number of machines - we may sooner or later expect a series them, and we cannot hope to escape.

WI SON ACTS TO END STRIKE

President Instructs Hines to Take Up Demands of Shop Employees for Higher Wages and Decide Them on Their Merits.

Chicago, Aug. 9 .- Striking railroad shop men in the Chicago district started back to work. As international officials of the shop crafts union issued a statement repudiating the Chicago district council and urging the men to end the strike pending a settlement by arbitration at Washington, reports were received that 323 employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road had voted to return. Shopmen of the Kansas City district responded to the appeal of the heads of their national organizations, and members of the six federated crafts, at a mass meeting, voted to return to work immediately. High officials of the United States railway administration stated that reports indicate a break in the strike and a disposition on the part of the men to quit the ranks of the insurgents and respond to the appeal of dents, but not many. "INTERESTING LETTERS"

Mr. Robert Spence, Berea, Ky.

The girls report a fine time at Berea and say they intend to work harder and take more interest in the crops and pigs than ever.

The sows and pigs have some lice on them, also some in the chicken-house. It looks now as though the tomatoe crop would be a failure on account of the dry weather. We have a canner and are well prepared to take care of all the tomatoes we raise.

The girls are well pleased over the opportunity of getting up a club at this place. They feel sure of a 11:00 a.m.—George Gatliff, Dispularge club here.

> Very truly, D. L. Carter.

July 31, 1919.

Mr. D. L. Carter, Wildie, Ky.

Dear Mr. Carter: It was a great day in Berea when the Club Convention convened. I was certainly pleased to have the opportunity to entertain these 191 club members. The daily attendance averaged 633, including the night picture shows, which averaged 1.100 each night. I am glad that the girls had a good time. I hope that they will feel free to come to Berea. Nothing pleases me more than to know that the girls are very much interested in organizing a club at Hummel. Just as soon as they get a crowd of ten or more, I shall be very glad indeed to give them further instructions as to the organization of a club. My heart is in this work, and it's my joy and happiness to see others take part.

I am hoping to be at your house some time in the near future to spend an evening. I promised the girls that I would do this and I am FARM FLOCKS IN CONTESTS going to try to meet my promise. I am always ready to serve and to help my friends. Glad to hear from you at any time.

Demonstration to Show How Proper Management Will Increase Egg Production.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Something different in egg-laying contests is being carried on in Missouri this year. Instead of a few selected fowls competing under the R. F. D. 2, Berea, Ky., care of experts, whole flocks of hens July 26, 1919. on the home farm and under the care of their owners are matched against similar flocks in all parts of the state. This is not only a contest to see which hens can lay the most eggs, Flock of Young White Leghorns.

the extension specialists say, but is ing the winter and spring terms, also a demonstration to show how egg production and profits of the farm

The plan is to have one poultry keeper in each community of the various counties enter the contest. The contestants agree to care for their entire poultry flock as nearly as possible according to directions furnished by the poultry-extension workers through the office of the farm bureau. At the end of each month each contestant is to report expenses and income from his flock for the wonth. This plan will stimulate better methods of poultry management by demonstrating on a typical farm in the neighborhood the results which can be secured by proper care of the flock. According to reports of the extension workers, 37 farm flocks are entered in the contest, with an average of 155 hons to the farm. In February the hens in the contest averaged 8.1 eggs. The value of eggs to the farm amounted to $32.08, the cost of feed per farm $18.17, and the average net profit $13.91. In the four months, November, December, January and February, eggs valued at $100.53 were produced on each farm at a cost for feed of $73.50 for each farm. White Leghorns averaged 25 eggs for the four months and led all breeds in egg yields. The highest record in a similar contest held in the state last year was made by N. P. Hollar, living near Harding, who secured an average production of 140 eggs from a flock of 430 birds.

General Education for those not far advanced, combined with some vocational training. No matter what your present advancement, we can put you with others like yourself and give chance for most rapid improvement.

3rd Door—Berea's English Academy Course

For those who are not expecting to teach and who are not going thru College and desire more general education. It also gives the best general education for those who wish a good start in study and expect to carry it on by themselves.

4th Door—Berea's Normal School

This gives the best training for those who expect to teach. Courses are so arranged that young people can teach through the summer and fall and attend school through the winter and spring, thus earning money to keep right on in their courses of study. Read Dinsmore's great book, "How to Teach a District School."

5th Door—Berea's Preparatory Academy Course This is the straight road to College-best training in Mathematics, Science, Languages, History and all preparatory subjects. The Academy is now Berea's largest department.

6th Door—Berea College
This is the crown of the whole Institution, and provides standard courses in all advanced subjects.

A Temporary Raise in Board is forced by war conditions. For 7:00 a.m.-Mrs. R. C. Coomer, twenty-five years the board has remained the same in Berea, but the unusual situation in which the whole country finds itself now makes it impossible for us to live on the same money as we have in the past

All students do some work with their hands from six to sixteen hours a week as janitors or in the farm, carpenter shop, printing office, laundry, boarding hall, office, etc., and receive pay which reduces their expenses.

Any able-bedied young man or young woman can get an education at Berea if there is the will to do so.

(Prepared by the Unifed States Depart-ment of Agriculture.)

Banding the trunks and larger limbs of apple trees with strips of cloth has been practiced extensively for the control of the codling moth. This method consists of fastening a band of cloth around the trunk, from which the loose bark has been removed. Usually a band made from burlap, folded to three thicknesses four to eight inches wide, worms, crawl beneath the band to form their cocoons and should be destroyed by hand at intervals of ten

Nest Virginia Raiser Reduces Number of Hens One-Half and Gets as Many Eggs.

(Prepared by the United States Depart-ment of Agriculture.)

That it does not pay to keep poultry in the winter-that is, some poultryhas been demonstrated to at least one West Virginia poultry raiser and his neighbors. Last fall he followed the advice of the poultry extension specialists and culled his flock. From a flock of 81 hens he culled out 39 and sent them to the market. To his surprise the remaining 42 birds produced as many eggs as the original flock and his feed bill was nearly halved.

There are many advantages to a single-pitch roof on the poultry house. This type is most easily built. It gives the highest vertical front exposed to the sun's rays and throws all of the rain water to the rear.

His Way.

Have we quite learned his way? "Teach me thy way, O Lord!" Do we know how to lift broken limbs? Do we know how to handle broken lives? Do we find more delight in denouncing sins than in helping sinners? Are we more expert in abstract analysis than in practical comfort? There is surely an almost crushing need of gentleness in days like these. Let us make no mistake about it; we are not less strong when we become gentle. Real gentleness is not weakened strength; it is strength disciplined, purified, refined, Gentleness is matured strength. It is the full corn in the ear. Roughness has never finished its training. The records show that the soil of the United States has decreased in fertility in the last fifty years while the soil of France has increased its productive capacity. Only by keeping up the fertility of the soil and carefut business management is it pos. sible to do this.

The farmers of the United States and especially those of the mountains must introduce more business management into their profession. They must acquire some of the thrift-of the French and learn to get larger annual yields from small tracts of land.

French methods can be used more successfully in the mountains than upon the plains as the rich coves and creek valleys are usually in very small tracts and not best adapted to the use of large mabinations will have to be worked Mr. Batson studied Carpentry, out with crops that are suited to Architectural Drawing, and Meth- the soil and climate of the comods of teaching for shop instructors munity where they are grown and Scientific agriculture and farmers' organizations are necessary to bring about this great change and these are both taught in good schools of Agriculture.

If we are to have permanent agriculture we must have permanent soil fertility. If our farmers are to pay their debts and lay aside some cash they must have thrift and business methods. A good school of Agriculture emphasizes both of the above principles. But in choosing that school be sure it specializes in the branches of farming that are suited to your locality. Agricultural education pays big financially.

NEGROES RETURN TO JOBS

Blacks Encouraged by Absence of Attack Upon Their Race Resume Labors-Officials Withdraw Militia.

Chicago, Aug. 9 .- Thirty-two thousand union workers at the stock yards were ordered out of the packing plants on a strike in protest against the presence of large details of police and deputy sheriff's stationed in and about the yards. Thousands of employees obeyed the strike order immediately. Others straggled after them. The number of strikers has not yet been definitely determined. The packing plants did not shut down, however, and while the union workers were walking out thousands of persons, white and black, crowded up to the doors of several employment offices asking for jobs. Hundreds were turned away.

Chicago, Aug. 9 .- Despite efforts to conciliate stock yards workers by withdrawing the reserve militia and yet providing a guard against resumption of race rioting by maintaining a force of police and deputy sheriffs, white workers in the yards more walked out. The first to quit work were 400 pork cutters at the G. H. Hammond plant. They reported for duty and found the extra guard of deputy sheriffs and police still in the yards. After punching the time clock they walked out and went to the union headquarters at Columbia hall to await developments. These were followed by 300 in the tin shop of Libby, McNeil & Libby's plant. Two hundred and thirty-eight cattle killers and 105 sheep killers at the Morris & Co. plant followed.

2,000 More Walk Out. The walkout then spread to the Agar, Independent and Brennan plants, all independent concerns. Two thousand men employed by these companies walked out.

Five hundred cattle, hog and sheep killers walked out of Wilson & Co. Union officials said that unless the police and deputy sheriffs were with drawn the 32,000 union workers would be out of the yards and the great packing plants virtually closed down by

The partial granting of the unions' demands that the guard be removed dld not satisfy the workers, however, and the began exerting pressure to force the removal of the police.

Thousands of negroes, encouraged by the absence of attack upon their race Thursday-the first day the ne groes have been allowed to work in the yards since the rioting beganthronged into the yards and blocked traffic about the employment offices. Many women were among their number. A large number of white persons also appeared to act as strike breakers if the necessity arose, but the negroes were largely in the ma-

Refuse to Work Under Guard. The decision to walk out was reached in a meeting of 500 yards workers at Columbia hall, Forty-eighth and Paulina streets, which was addressed by President Martin P. Murphy and Secretary-Treasurer J. W. Johnstone of the stock yards labor council, and John Kikulski, organizer for the A. F. of L.

The union officials said they attempted to find Mayor Thompson to present the walkout ultimatum contained in the resolution adopted at Columbia hall.

BIG PASSENGER SHIP AGROUND

North Star, Carrying 285 From Boston, in Trouble Off Yarmouth, N. S .- No One Hurt.

Boston, Aug. 9.-The steamship North Star which left this port for Yarmouth, N. S., with 285 passengers went aground on Green Island six miles off Yarmouth, according to word received by officials of the eastern steamship lines here. The North Star struck on the rocks, during a thick fog. Reports received here indicate that no one was hurt and that there was no confusion aboard. Preparations had been made to remove the passengers if it became necessary.

Two boats, several motor schooners, and all other available vessels were ordered out.
